Download the ADB and Fastboot driver for Android.Q: How to subtract days in powerquery using the minutes function I'm trying to subtract the number of days between the end date of a Workday window in a PowerQuery report and the date of the current Workday. E.g. Start date = 01/01/2019, End date = 01/05/2019, current date = 01/10/2019, Workday starts on Fridays, I want to subtract the number of days between the end of the last period and the current Workday = CALCULATE( MINUS(CALCULATE(DATE(YEAR([Date]), MONTH([Date]), 1, 4), CALCULATE( DATE(YEAR([Date]), MONTH([Date]), 1, 3), [Date]))), [Date] ) The current result should give me the number of days in the period from the end of the last period until the current Workday. The first date in the list is the last period end date. The number of days in the previous period is 3 as this is one day less than the current period. The second date in the list is one day before the current date, so it should subtract 2 and not 3 days. The third date in the list is one day after the current date, so it should subtract one day and not two days. I've been trying various ways to get it to work but I'm stuck. Any ideas? A: You have an error in your logic. You have to think from the end of the previous period rather than from the start. = CALCULATE( MINUS(CALCULATE(DATE(YEAR([End] - 1), MONTH([End] - 1), 1, 4), CALCULATE

The only example I've found online, shows it using either a DataTable or an ObservableCollection. I'm more familiar with the DataGrid control. I tried it using a DataView but it just doesn't have enough features for me to grasp. I can't seem to find anything online that shows how to do this. 3e33713323
