Songwriters : Political correctness is just a virus that's trying to take over the world, so it can be cured by developing an immunity to it, and until it's gone for good, we're gonna have to fight it every step of the way. -on Politically Correct The only "famous" blue-collar American singer was Elvis Presley, whose films and Broadway musicals never made him rich or powerful, though he'd for years pretended to be, and I see no reason to believe that we're about to see this particular illusion fall apart. -on Political Correctness Satire: The most significant reason we cannot know the truth is that we are reduced in time, and as existence grows more complicated, we perceive more tightly patterned forms for the lies our ancestors believed in, and who had no need for lies, having not yet acquired sufficient experience of the world for the lies to be practical. -on Jimmy

Fallon: The Snake's Penis "I don't know much about anything," she said, "but I know I don't want a President who lies." -on Tom Tancredo and the Presidency "As President of the United States, I pledge to you that as long as you are President I will not lie to you. I will not sugarcoat your problems or make your problems go away. I will not act like this is all just one big joke. I will not lie to you. I promise." -on the character of the President in Tom Tancredo: The Snake's Penis We're gonna have to endure this Obama ticket for a while. Obama, his running mate, and the vice presidency, will dominate the news. Even if the president loses, it will be a big story. He will remain a huge, and I believe crippling, force. We can't do anything about Obama, so we'll have to endure him in one form or another. We'll watch his own debates, which will provide instant and daily access to him. There will be opportunities for voters to see the debates:

the camera will be turned to him from time to time. His campaign staffers will be bent on making sure he gets a bump from every opportunity. They've got hundreds of millions of dollars to spend on that, and the key is to keep him on the screen. -on why Obama should be a one-term President "
