Gun-blasting Wild West action at its best! Play as Clint, Annie, Doris, Bullet or even Charlie in this adrenaline-packed adventure through New York City in the 1840s. The father of one of the original Wild West detectives, John Marston, has disappeared. It's up to Annie, Colt, Doris and her gang to hunt him down and bring him back. Not only do you have to avoid enemy bullets, but you'll also have to watch out for special boss enemies that make their own bullet-strewn ways through the action. More crazy weapons to use, more things to die – but always with style!Q: Waiting for a JavaFX progress bar to be completed How would I put a progress bar in JavaFX and wait till its completed, for example if the data is being imported to a DB? I am currently using a progress bar to show the percentage of items that has been imported, but I don't know if that is the correct way to do it. A: Simple enough solution for progressBar but have a look to see if there is anything better in JavaFX ProgressBar progressBar = new ProgressBar(); StackPane progressBarContainer = new StackPane(); progressBarContainer.getChildren().add(progressBar); progressBar.progressProperty().bind(new SimpleObjectProperty(0f)); StackPane.setAlignment(progressBar, Pos.TOP_CENTER); StackPane.setAlignment(progressBar, Pos.BOTTOM_CENTER); StackPane.setAlignment(progressBar, Pos.CENTER_HORIZONTAL); StackPane.setAlignment(progressBar, Pos.CENTER_VERTICAL); StackPane.setAlignment(progressBar, Pos.LEFT); Text text = new Text("0%"); text.setStyle("-fx-font-size: 150;"); Text text1 = new Text(progressBar.getProgress()); text1.setStyle("-fx-font-size: 100;"); StackPane.setAlignment(text, Pos.TOP_CENTER); StackPane.setAlignment(text1, Pos.BOTTOM_CENTER); StackPane.setAlignment(text1, Pos.CENTER c9d1549cdd

s by going to the moon A captivating way to escape current Covid-like conditions Covid has proven to be the biggest challenge in human history. Many who had the means to travel have stayed, who wants to escape in their time of need, is not many. So we go on higher. Sad but true! There is a lunar station in Arizona that is run by the Italian Space agency. It is large enough that you can stay there for several weeks in comfort. Some people choose to install Robots and how they work still to evolve, others simply do not want to go at all and stay at home. Most of the people I know do not want to go away but if you go there, you can get supplies to make good food and experience a different world. How to Get there? You have to pass all the hurdles of getting there, the laws are in place to get there and make sure that you land safely at the station, no nose diving, so you need a good ASL designation. This can be bought online and with an annual license, 5-500 USD. There are many ways you can get to this place, you can fly in there on your own, when you get there, you need to register as a resident, you have to go through security screens and then form a community there. Big city has different functions and rules. The nearest city to the Moon is Flagstaff AZ Plane fuel cost a lot but there are frequent flights, last time to Arizona was February 8th but if you check they have some flight every day Trips are about 2h and the fare is approximatly 150 USD or you can take a train to Williams Arizona and continue there and eventually use a car to reach Flagstaff, you have to go inside, you buy a Prohibited area permit or low rent permit and this is a challange, if not done bing, you will need to take an exam and no guarantee that you will be able to do it. You can rent a car from your airport but it is limited and you have to pay for fuel, extra charges for insurance, etc. And parking in Williams is very hard, long traffic jams and you will need to pay for parking.
