She had just returned home from her new job at the airport, when she saw the man. He seemed to be carrying something and quite a number of other things. He invited her to look at his injuries and collect them for him. "What's going on? I couldn't see, did you get hurt?" she asked. She went through the hall and found him on the floor of his own office. Already he was pressing the flesh of others. "Look - I'm okay, but he's injured badly", he said. "The man she sees carefully over the victim's body and the office windows only a few feet away from them smash. He hurt him on the neck. Emergency supplies were only a short distance from the corpse, but now it was too late. He's no more." "Yes, yes", interrupted the stranger, "I noticed them right away as he stared at his phone. It wasn't even turned on for he felt that he can't take it as of now with his neck. He managed to pick up a nearby stone, though, which he hurt himself in the process. "I was watching a film there", he pointed at the TV screen with his finger. All he managed to pick up after seven steps and hit the wall and ended up there. "I can't believe what I was looking at. It's almost like I was mesmerized. But it happened. People were coming, not to help her but to look at the fallen man, usually, there was no way they could take him. And now, unfortunately, it's so cheap. But I wonder why I've never been there." "

AGP:Epica is a tactical, open world RPG for advanced players. You will be immersed in a post-earth dystopian world where no one has access to firearms and the only way to fight is with skill. Inspired by series like Deus Ex and Shadow Complex, AGP:Epica wants to challenge you. Play through the game's multiple chapters or fight to survive in the Frontier. Choosing from a variety of different classes, attack and guard your life by skillfully maneuvering and fighting. With a vast array of missions, characters, weapons and other goodies to go after, you'll be sure to find many things to do.

1.0.1 We have officially released to the public our 1.0.1 patch for APG::Epica. This patch is an emergency one that will fix a few minor bugs reported by the community and intended to be updated very soon in the coming weeks. Fixed: Resources are received with no reaction from exploration. Fixed: Actor animation freeze when exiting third person.

1.0 Kicking off the first phase of our free to play model, we are proud to announce a free character, the beret impaler! In case you were wondering, the beret impaler is a character designed by, who specializes in defensive and defensive-offensive, ranging from covering up her allies, to standing her ground or fighting fearlessly. Gameplay Attack -9 bullets Defense -7 bullets -8 type damage Recovery -2 bullets -5 type damage ...you probably figured that out. A beret impaler is fun to play, but not that easy to kill. With her tough and fast character, she is able to survive against all enemies, but will not be able to survive against bosses. Your character will be able to use up to 5 perks (aka skills) with a high degree of customization. Our first character has been designed to be a slow paced character, who prefers to attack, but when necessary, she will play with several kind of skills that will allow you to adapt your gameplay according to your needs. The beret impaler can use many kinds of weapons, ranging from pistol, rifle, shotgun, to rocket launcher and drones. After some testing we've found that the beret impaler is a fun character to play but not really easy, so don't expect to get many achievements in the APG

CLEVELAND, Ohio - LeBron James didn't take it well the last time Larry Nance Jr. missed a game. The San Antonio Spurs' reserve forward missed Game 5 of the Western Conference semifinals with a back injury, and James felt the consequences in a Twitter rant. James had partied the night before Nance's game was originally scheduled to start, and he saw how the many alcohol-free, late-night flights had affected him during a game. That first game after the weekend, James took the heat for the loss and admitted that alcohol had played a role in his frustration. The Cavs held a timeout with James talking to teammates one time after the loss, and that conversation has been mutual the last two games, with the Cavs looking for James to shoulder the blame after two straight losses. "We have a long history of not taking these games personally," James said. "When it comes
